

Silicone Plastinates - Torso Specimens - Torso

Torso

HP0411

- male or female
- with most arteries, nerves, and main veins
- combined dissection of the proximal parts of extremities
- neck is complete, dissection represents different layers
- trunk: muscle dissection displayed various groups of muscles on each side of the body
- one side of the anterior thoracoabdominal wall is removed, another side is reflected aside in order to expose thoracic, abdominal and pelvic cavities
- thorax represents organs of the mediastinum
- organs, vessels, and nerves of the retroperitoneal space and the posterior abdominal wall are preserved
- content of the pelvic cavity is shown
- stand included

